8-year-old Artem at a camp for beneficiaries of the palliative care program, in which seven families articipated. For most families lved in the palliative care ogram, this camp offers their ly chance to rest and take a eak from the exhausting routine caring for seriously ill children.

 W hile not all children can be cured, every child can be supported.

We work to ensure that families with terminally ill children can live comfortably and pain-free. To achieve this, we arrange consultations with doctors and psychologists, sessions with dogassisted therapists, provide necessary medications and caregiving essentials, and fulfill children's dreams.

In 2023, 80 families participated in the palliative program — the highest participation since its implementation in 2015. Due to the war and financial difficulties, requests for food and other household supplies have become more frequent.

Thanks to our donors, the children had access to medicines, and care products, and enjoyed their favorite hobbies. Together with their parents, hey were delighted to make their reams come true.
